

Make a difference. Become a NYTD Reviewer.

JBS is recruiting young people for NYTD Reviews

- Are you interested in working to improve the child welfare system?
- Are you interested in NYTD data collection, analysis, and data-driven work?
- Do you have leadership, professional, or advocacy experience in the foster care field?
- Are you between the ages of 18–25 and have you spent time in foster care?

If you answered yes to any of these questions, we have an awesome opportunity for you!

What can you expect?

As a trained NYTD Reviewer on the federal NYTD team, you will:

- Be a part of a model federal program that includes the foster care voice at every level.
- Receive training and have the opportunity to participate in a review based on your availability.
- Gain transferable skills to add to your professional resume.
- Be supported and reimbursed for doing work you enjoy.
- Make meaningful connections.

NYTD is a reporting system that collects data from states about youth transitioning out of foster care. The NYTD Reviews help evaluate how states are using these data to improve foster care for young people.
