A victim of trafficking may look like many of the people you help each day. Ask the right questions and look for clues. You are vital because you may be the only person a victim has the opportunity to speak to.

There are safe housing, health, immigration, food, income, employment, legal and interpretation services available to victims, but first they must be found.

If you are concerned that someone may be a victim of forced labor or commercial sex, call the National Human Trafficking Hotline to report what you see and learn how you can help. For more information about human trafficking visit www.acf.hhs.gov/endtrafficking.
