Tribal Special Points of Interest

The Menominee Indian Tribe once occupied a land base estimated at 10 million acres now known as Wisconsin, and parts of Michigan and Illinois. The Tribe lost much of its land base during the early 1800's Treaty era. Today, the reservation is situated on 235,523 acres of Tribe's ancestral homelands which contains over 200,000 acres of the richest forests in the nation. The governing body of the Menominee Tribe is a nine-member Tribal Legislature that is elected by enrolled Tribal members. There is a separate, but equal Tribal Judicial Court that consists of a lower court and a supreme court. The Menominee Tribal Court has jurisdiction over all Native Americans within the exterior boundaries of the Menominee Indian Reservation.

Tribal Narrative

The Menominee Tribal Child Support Agency is one of the original nine Tribes to receive direct federal funding to operate a comprehensive Title IV-D Child Support Enforcement program. All fourteen functions required under the Final Rule are provided by the agency. The agency also implemented information and referral services in FY2008 to address participant barriers and increase financial stability for the children and families served by the agency. The agency currently employs eleven staff members and a part-time Child Support Attorney. The agency caseload averages 2000 annually.

There were a total of 391 new referrals for child support services in FY2012. The referral sources included Tribal TANF, County Economic Support Agencies, Kinship/Substitute Care programs, other jurisdictions for enforcement and individual applications. As of the end of FY2012, there were 1,633 open IV-D cases receiving services from the Menominee Tribal Child Support Agency. An additional 134 cases received services during the fiscal, but were closed during FY2012. Support was established for 93% of cases.

There were 135 cases opened for paternity establishment in FY2012, of whom 132 were non-marital children. The total number of children born out of wedlock for the current year is 1,252. The total number of children with paternity established or acknowledged is 1,335. Based on this data, the Menominee Tribal Child Support Agency has a paternity establishment rate of 107%.

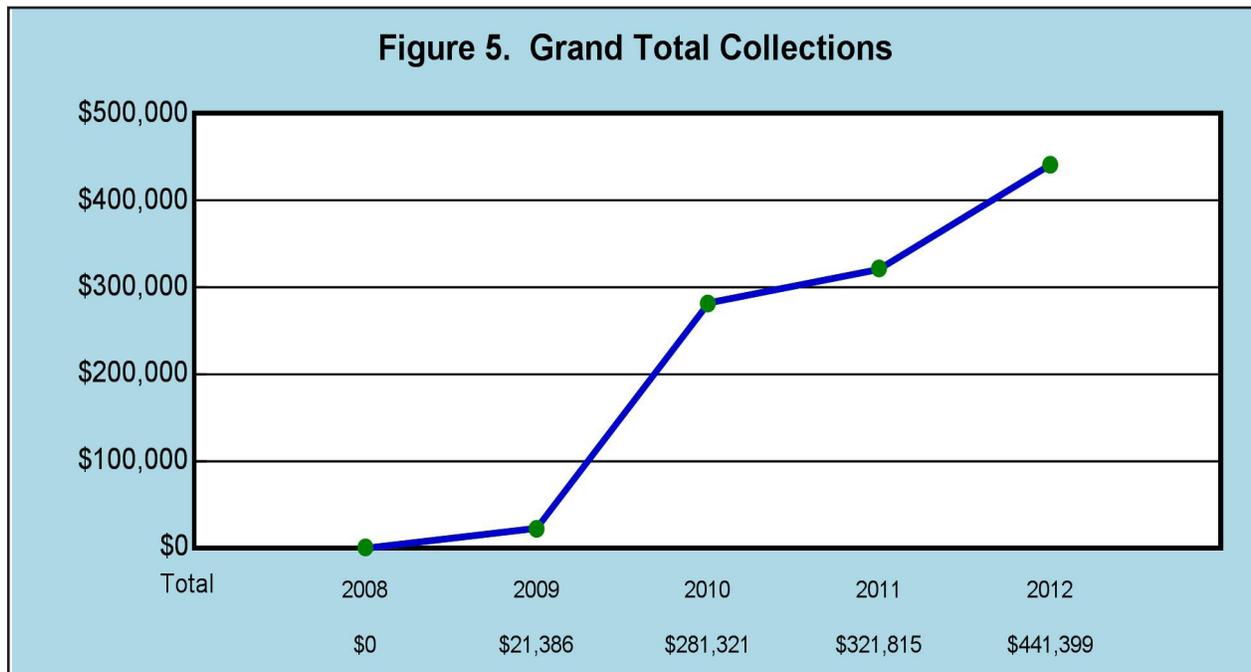

Poor economic conditions are prevalent in Menominee and significant socio-economic barriers are present. Menominee continues to rank highest among Wisconsin counties in poverty levels and unemployment based on the 2010 U.S. Census. Many parents are low income and do not have the means to provide financial support for their children. Despite these factors, the agency collected and distributed approximately 1.572 million in FY2012, of which 75% was distributed as current support. Parents have a difficult time making payments toward arrearages for the reasons cited above. The Menominee Tribal Child Support Agency looks forward to the new year with the expectation that we will continue to improve our services to the children and families served.

Tribal Narrative

The Mescalero Apache Reservation is located in south central New Mexico. It was originally established in 1883 and has a land area of 719,101 square miles which is almost entirely in Otero County. Mescalero is home to over 5,000 members in which at least 80% of its members living within the Mescalero Reservation bounds. In the nineteenth center, the Mescalero Apaches opened their reservation to other Apache bands, such as the Chiricahua who had been imprisoned in Florida, and the Lipan Apache.

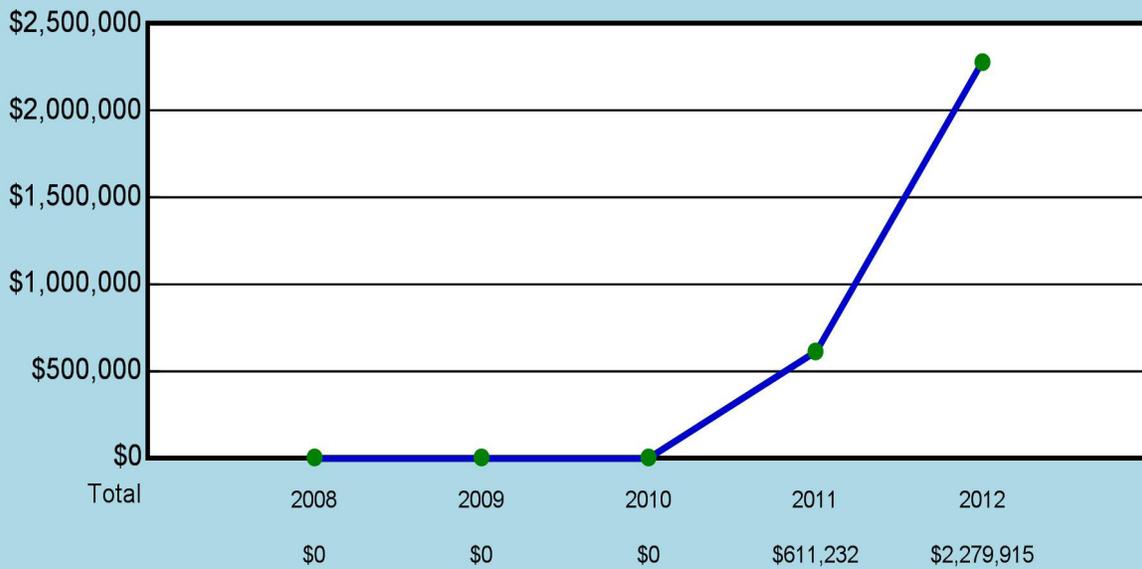

Tourism is currently the major source of income for the tribe. The tribe developed and owns the Inn of the Mountain Gods Resort & Casino and as part of the IMG operation, the Tribe also operates and owns Ski Apache located adjacent to the massive peak of Sierra Blanca Mountain, the southernmost alpine peak in the Continental United States and is sacred ground for the Mescalero Apache Tribe. The Mescalero Apache Tribe also has many other enterprises such as owning and operating the Mescalero Apache Telecom, providing internet and phone services to the residences and business of the community.

Tribal Special Points of Interest

History

Once occupying the lands that would today be along the California-Oregon border, member of the Modoc Tribe were removed to Indian Territory in 1873 after capture by U.S. Government armed forces following a six-month war. By 1891, just 68 members of the tribe survived. Today, with about 200 members, the tribe is the smallest recognized in Oklahoma.

Economic/Future Growth

The tribe operates Red Cedar Recycling and The Stables, a gaming facility and restaurant in Miami. The reintroduction of a bison herd is part of the tribe's economic development plan.

Tribal Special Points of Interest

Muscogee Nation - Past and Present

The original homeland of the Muscogee People was in Southeastern North America.

Today the MCN jurisdictional boundaries cover all or parts of eleven counties within the state of Oklahoma.

There are currently 77,154 enrolled citizens of the Muscogee (Creek) Nation.

The people of the Muscogee Nation strive to preserve their heritage, cultural values, and language, while addressing scientific and technological advances, changing demographics, dynamic local, state and national level politics, globalization, life-long education, health care, and family structure.

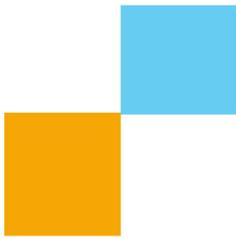

The Muscogee (Creek) Nation Office of Child Support Enforcement strives to:

- Reduce Indian child poverty
- Increase family stability and self-sufficiency
- Work to reestablish parent-child relationships
- Work with other IV-D agencies to provide child support services
- Locate absent parents
- Determine parentage, if necessary
- Establish and modify child support orders
- Collect and distribute child support in an efficient and timely manner
- Reduce court actions through mediation

Tribal Narrative

Muscogee (Creek) Nation Office of Child Support Enforcement

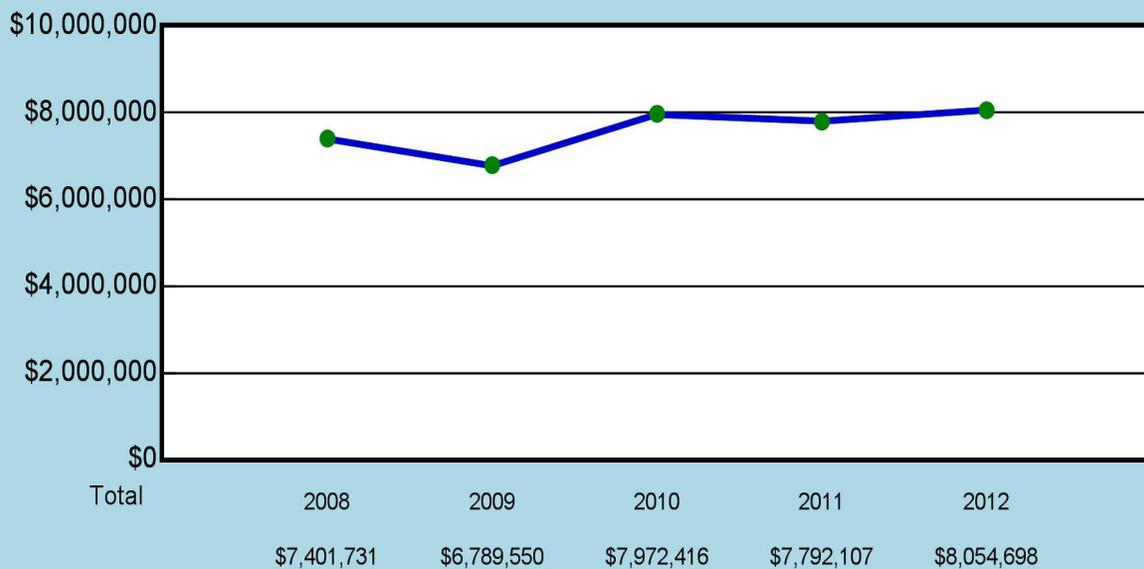

The MCN Office of Child Support became a comprehensive program on July 1, 2008. By the end of fiscal year 2008, the agency had 301 cases and had collected $65,190. In four years the agency grew to 1,269 cases and collected over $1.6M.

Tribal Special Points of Interest

We have been cooperating with the Shoshone and Arapaho Tribal Court to set up our own specific Child Support Hearing Magistrate to oversee and make judgment on all tribal Child Support hearings in 2014.

NACSP has faced a change in Directorship of the program and staff changes in key positions. NACSP has continued to serve the community with best service possible under these circumstances, but the effects of this change are still being felt. We look forward to Fiscal Year 2014 being an even more productive year for NACSP.

The Wind River Indian Reservation is the seventh-largest Indian reservation by area in the United States, encompassing a 3,473.272 sq mi and just over one-third of Fremont County and over one-fifth of Hot Springs County.[1] The reservation is located in the Wind River Basin, and is surrounded by the picturesque Wind River Mountain Range, Owl Creek Mountains, and the Absaroka Mountains. It is shared by the Northern Arapaho and Eastern Shoshone tribes of which, the population in 2011, 8,177 were Arapaho and 3,737 were Shoshone.

The Northern Arapaho Tribe of Wyoming is one of four groups of Arapaho who originally occupied the headwaters of the Arkansas and Platte Rivers. They speak a variation of the Algonquin language, and are that people's most southwest extension. Culturally, they are Plains Indians, but socially and historically distinct. After signing the Treaty of 1851, the Arapaho and Cheyenne then shared land encompassing one-sixth of Wyoming, one-quarter of Colorado and parts of western Kansas and Nebraska. Later, when the Treaty of 1868 left the Hinono'eiteen (Arapaho Nation) without a land base, they were placed with the Shoshone in west central Wyoming, on the Wind River Reservation.

Tribal Narrative

The Northern Arapaho Child Support Program (NACSP) is currently in its Fifth year of comprehensive operation. We currently have 1920 open cases. The NACSP continues to strive to improve the lives of our children and families through positive dissemination of information on what our child support enforcement program is all about and how it works. We have become a big part of services offered by the Tribe by actively participating in community outreach social gatherings. We have had tremendous support from our Tribal leaders to gain community awareness through various tribal events. Due to the dissemination of information, we see a continuous influx in our caseload count.

Footnote

Through our case transfer process we are assuming all debt on the cases that transferred jurisdiction from the State of Wisconsin. We went from $ 8,369,322 to $ 8,852,515 in arrears from fiscal year 2011 to fiscal year 2012. Again this past year we've seen a substantial increase in arrears debt due to the transfer of cases and assuming the debt that was already there. We are always looking to expunge debt where applicable in coordination with the State of Wisconsin debt forgiveness policies as the majority of the debt is owed to the State.

Tribal Narrative

- Paternity Establishment Rate increased to 97% over 94% the previous year through refining procedures.
- Support Order Establishment Rate increased to 90% over 88% the previous year through refining procedures.
- Customer service surveys resulted in a 96% overall satisfaction rating.
- We held our first S.O.S. (Services of Support) day with a goal of connecting our unemployed and underemployed customers to other services.

Tribal Special Points of Interest

- In 2007, ONCSS was emerged as a strong, ethical child support program, which provides services to Osage children wherever they may live; to Native American children within the Osage Reservation boundaries; and to non-Indians who consent to the jurisdiction of the Osage Nation Court.
- We strive to improve the welfare of children by strengthening family responsibility and values while ensuring cultural and community integrity.
- It is our goal to increase family stability and prosperity; determine parentage when necessary; establish and distribute child support in an efficient and timely manner.
- We work very closely with our Tribal Court and District Court.

Tribal Narrative

Osage Nation Child Support Services is located in Pawhuska, Oklahoma. The ONCSS is founded on strong professionalism and personal ethics reflective of the Osage Nation philosophy of WA HO^ (Respect). A great deal of our work involves direct interaction with both customers and professional colleagues. Providing excellent customer service is of the utmost importance to the ONCSS Team. We know and understand the importance of having strong networking relationships with other tribes, courts and county and state agencies. We are constantly working to strengthen those relationships.
