MENOMINEE (cont.)

Tribal Special Points of Interest

The Menominee Indian Tribe once occupied a land base estimated at 10 million acres now known as Wisconsin, and parts of Michigan and Illinois. The Tribe lost much of its land base during the early 1800's Treaty era. Today, the reservation is situated on 235,523 acres of Tribe's ancestral homelands which contains over 200,000 acres of the richest forests in the nation. The governing body of the Menominee Tribe is a nine-member Tribal Legislature that is elected by enrolled Tribal members. There is a separate, but equal Tribal Judicial Court that consists of a lower court and a supreme court. The Menominee Tribal Court has jurisdiction over all Native Americans within the exterior boundaries of the Menominee Indian Reservation.

Tribal Narrative

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS:

Case load and Collections:

- MLB had 1,600 total cases open in the IV-D program. 1,524 cases have court ordered support representing 95% of the case count;
- The total owed on support for open cases was $3,655,811.60 and of the total $2,138,046.00 was collected for a 59% collection rate. This came from Per Capita garnishments, payroll garnishments, minor trust payouts, and voluntary payments;
- .3% of the $7,597,070.35 owed in arrears was collected.

Community Outreach:

- 5 paternity tests were performed by our program for children needing paternity established;
- Sent monthly Band member newspaper articles to 2,222 Head of Household Mille Lacs Band members;
- Attended 3 MLB community health fairs;
- Attended Minnesota Family Support and Recovery Council annual conference as a presenter;
- Had an information table set up at the MLB State of The Band Address;
- Had an information table at the Mille Lacs Band Grand Casino spring job fair.

Ongoing Efforts:

- Worked closely with the State of Minnesota to get DEED language changed in Legislation. The legislative proposal passed (Chpt. 78, Art. 1, Sec. 34) which allows all Tribal IV-D agencies within the United States to withhold unemployment benefits from the MN Dept. of Education and Economic Development. Effective October 15, 2015;
- Generate a collaborative approach to education of teens in the community with other tribal programs;
- Working with Tribal leaders to identify a bigger office space to accommodate the rapid growth of the departments staffing and space needs;
- Research fathers program opportunities.
- MLB is in the process of revising tribal statutes to maintain consistency within the program and the courts;
- MLB continues to work with MN CSED to revise work plan.
- MLB continues to work with MN CSED to change language in Minnesota legislation to transfer Mille Lacs Band members IV-D case from state court to Tribal Court.

Tribal Special Points of Interest

History

Once occupying the lands that would today be along the California-Oregon border, member of the Modoc Tribe were removed to Indian Territory in 1873 after capture by U.S. Government armed forces following a six-month war. By 1891, just 68 members of the tribe survived. Today, with about 200 members, the tribe is the smallest recognized in Oklahoma.

Economic/Future Growth

The tribe operates Red Cedar Recycling and The Stables, a gaming facility and restaurant in Miami. The reintroduction of a bison herd is part of the tribe's economic development plan.

Tribal Special Points of Interest

- Today the MCN jurisdictional boundaries cover all or parts of eleven counties within the state of Oklahoma.
- There are currently 76,980 enrolled citizens of the Muscogee (Creek) Nation.
- The people of the Muscogee Nation strive to preserve their heritage, cultural values, and language, while addressing scientific and technological advances, changing demographics, dynamic local, state and national level politics, globalization, life-long education, health care, and family structure.

The Muscogee (Creek) Nation Office of Child Support Enforcement strives to:

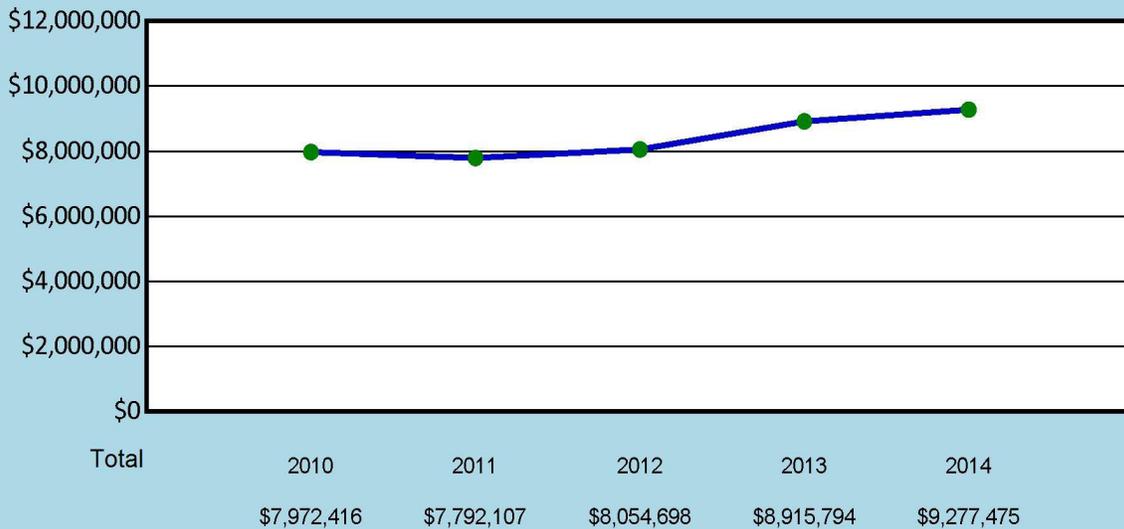

- Reduce Indian child poverty
- Increase family stability and self-sufficiency
- Work to reestablish parent-child relationships
- Work with other IV-D agencies to provide child support services
- Locate absent parents
- Determine parentage, if necessary
- Establish and modify child support orders
- Collect and distribute child support in an efficient and timely manner
- Reduce court actions through mediation

Tribal Narrative

Navajo Nation Department of Child Support Enforcement (NNDCE) offices began collaborating child support services with the Navajo Nation Judicial Court. The process allows our program to serve child support petitions to Absent Parents that are either appearing for a hearing at the court or incarcerated in their correctional facility. In addition to this DCSE staff are obtaining court orders to enforce collection of unpaid child support obligation when NCPs appear for court hearings.

NNDCE is collaborating child support referrals with Navajo Nation Peacemaking. Program staff refer families that want to stipulate to paternity, child support and medical support. The Peacemaking staff schedule the sessions with the parties. Upon completion of the peacemaking session, a stipulation of the parties session is returned to DCSE office and an administrative child support order is issued for enforcement and collection of child support.

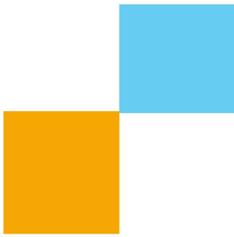

The tribunal DCSE works with, Office of Hearings and Appeals reviewed and returned all the pending child support orders signed by the Chief Hearing Officer. As a result the obligated percentage of child support cases increased.

Our program is providing Itinerate child support services at one of the Navajo Nation Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) offices due to the distance between TANF and DCSE offices. DCSE staff are taking TANF referrals from the TANF customers to determine compliance since compliance is one of the requirements for TANF customers to receive financial assistance. During this time DCSE staff are providing the TANF customers an orientation for seeking child support services. If there is a need for update application or information DCSE staff will obtain during the Itinerate service and update the child support system upon their return to their office. This is helpful especially for families that do not have transportation from the TANF office to the DCSE office.

A Case closure project was initiated within the program for all unworkable case. Each office obtained information on cases where the dependents emancipated and Navajo Nation DCSE no longer had jurisdiction to pursue paternity, child support and medical support due to emancipation. These cases were closed and resulted in a higher percentage of obligated cases. This project is an ongoing project.

Quarterly Staff Meetings and Legal Work Sessions were conducted by the administration and legal staff for all NNDCE employees. The topics discussed included update program information and plans, an overview of the Navajo Nation Child Support Enforcement Act and Guidelines, case preparation for hearings, Case Laws pertaining to child support. The Navajo Nation Annual Department Conference was held on June 10 – June 14, 2013 for the entire program staff.

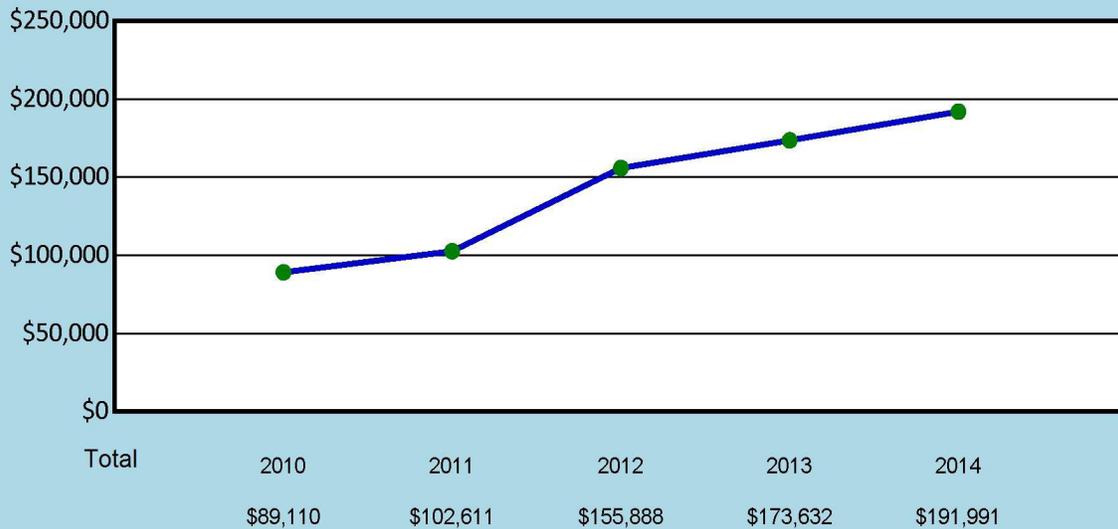

Our program had very little staff turnover. As of the end of the fiscal year we had 100% budgeted positions filled.

Tribal Special Points of Interest

The Nooksack Tribe

The Nooksack Indian Tribe is a Federally recognized Indian Tribe occupying a Reservation established pursuant to the 1855 Treaty of Point Elliott. The Nooksack Indian Tribe is located in eastern Whatcom County, Washington, near the Canadian Border. The Tribe's fragmented lands include a 2.2 acre Reservation, 298 acres of Fee and Trust Lands, and an additional 2000 acres in private allotments. The Tribe was divided by the Canadian Border, as established in 1846 with the Oregon Treaty. This resulted in populations of the Tribe divided by the Border. Today, most of the 2028 Nooksack members living within the United States live from the Canadian border through Skagit County to the south and from the sea eastwards to Mt. Baker with 1,032 members living on Tribal lands.

Tribal Special Points of Interest

The Wind River Indian Reservation is the seventh-largest Indian reservation by area in the United States, encompassing a 3,473.272 sq mi and just over one-third of Fremont County and over one-fifth of Hot Springs County. It is located in the Wind River Basin, and is surrounded by the picturesque Wind River, Owl Creek, and the Absaroka Mountain Ranges. It is shared between the Northern Arapaho and Eastern Shoshone tribes. In 2015 there were just over 10,000 Arapaho Tribal Members.

The Northern Arapaho Tribe of Wyoming is one of four groups of Arapaho who originally occupied the headwaters of the Arkansas and Platte Rivers. They speak a variation of the Algonquin language, and are that people's most southwest extension. Culturally, they are Plains Indians, but socially and historically distinct. After signing the Treaty of 1851, the Arapaho and Cheyenne then shared land encompassing one-sixth of Wyoming, one-quarter of Colorado and parts of western Kansas and Nebraska. Later, when the Treaty of 1868 left the Hinono'eiteen (Arapaho Nation) without a land base, they were placed with the Shoshone in west central Wyoming, on the Wind River Reservation.

Tribal Narrative

The Northern Arapaho Child Support Program (NACSP) is currently in its Sixth year of operation. We have tremendous support from our Tribal leaders and we see a continuous influx in our caseload count. Due to difficulties with the Joint Shoshone and Arapaho Tribal Court, our Arapaho Business Council leaders have changed our Law code to place authority to the Northern Arapaho Administrative Law Judge over Arapaho Child support matters. Our biggest hurdle in implementing the ALJ has been the OCSE plan approval and funding process. There has been frustration voiced by our Tribal leaders and community at the timeline of federal approval. Once approved we anticipate our cases being processed at an increased rate.

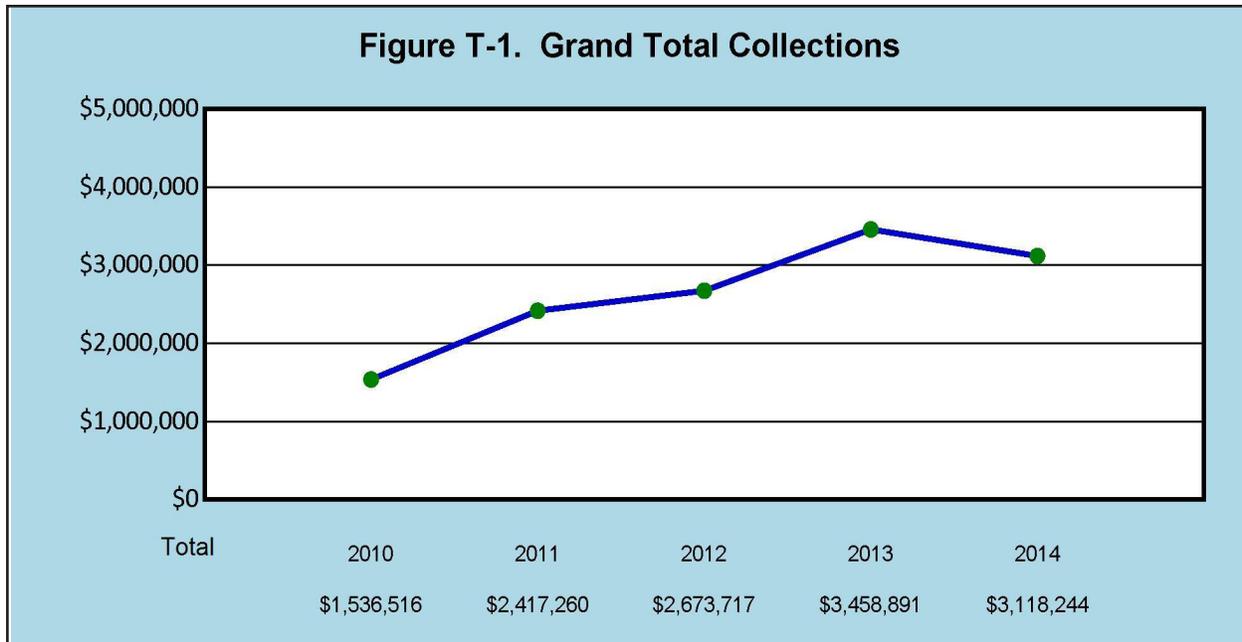

Director, Robert Martinez continues to make streamlining office reporting, casework, collections and distribution procedures a major goal. NACSP has seen better office communication and increase in office morale as a result.

For FY 2014 we had 2,148 open cases. We also had a total of 782 cases with a CP on TANF. The number of cases with a support order is up to 1,265. Throughout the year we spent $1,484.00 on Genetic Testing and as result we had a total of 23 cases attain paternity establishment through voluntary acknowledgement and DNA testing.

Our total collections and distributions are $212,957.00. This figure is down from $234,332.00 reported for FY 2013. We've attributed this to the Tribal Courts inability to schedule hearings. Currently they only hear an average of 3 cases a month. Creating new Child Support Orders, recognizing Foreign Judgments and modifying existing orders is extremely slow. We anticipate the ALJ court to alleviate these issues. We look forward to FY 2015 being an even more productive year for NACSP.

Tribal Special Points of Interest

- In 2007, ONCSS was emerged as a strong, ethical child support program, which provides services to Osage children wherever they may live; to Native American children within the Osage Reservation boundaries; and to non-Indians who consent to the jurisdiction of the Osage Nation Court.
- We strive to improve the welfare of children by strengthening family responsibility and values while ensuring cultural and community integrity.
- It is our goal to increase family stability and prosperity; determine parentage when necessary; establish and distribute child support in an efficient and timely manner.
- We work very closely with our Tribal Court and District Court.
